

Writing an email

From: Angel
To: Cherry
Date and time: 4 October 2014, 23:05
Subject: My Advice

Dear Cherry,

Hello, how are you? Thanks for your email. I'm so sorry that you've found yourself in such a difficult situation. I completely understand how angry and upset you must be feeling right now. Certainly, you must be annoyed and feel helpless because I have the same experience as you, so I want to give you support and some advice.

Your problem is that Oscar and Lucy pretended to be Victor and you feel so frustrated. It's not worth getting upset because you didn't know the truth about the whole thing. Why don't you tell them that they hurt your feelings and wasted your time. Have you talked to anyone at school? If not, it may be helpful to talk to your class teacher and social workers because they understand these situations and help you solve the problem. You shouldn't get upset and worried. However, you must be careful when chatting online.

You feel embarrassed and ashamed and don't know how to face Oscar and Lucy. Don't feel ashamed! You didn't do anything wrong. In my opinion, I think you must not post your photos or personal profile on the Internet. In free time, you can do some sports and listening to music to relax. It's a good idea to share your problems with the people you trust, e.g. your parents.

I'm sure there are things you can do to make the situation better. I hope my suggestions will be helpful to you and everything will work out fine. Don't worry and wish you good luck.

Best wishes

Angel

Written by S4D Horace Hui